County to be sued on Nameoki values

Two hundred years ago Saturday, the "Boston tea party" dramatized the issue of taxation.

On the anniversary, nearly 300 persons crowded the Nameoki Town Hall to protest assessment increases they believe will increase their property taxes to a level that will reduce their homes' attractiveness and value.

Charging discrimination against Nameoki Township because it was singled out for the start of county-wide reassessment, the group organized to take legal action.

Creating "Nameoki Taxpayers for Uniform County-Wide Taxation," the gathering elected as its president Thomas Noth, an assistant principal of Granite City High School South. Robert Cowan was elected as secretary and Randy Sigle as treasurer.

Families present contributed $2 each toward a fund to finance litigation. Carl Runge, an attorney living in Collinsville, was selected to represent the group.

Runge said he will file proceedings this week in an effort to enjoin Madison County from utilizing new assessment figures in Nameoki Township until he has prepared similar revisions for townships throughout the county.

In addition to legal action as a group, most of those present indicated they will file individual objections to the adjusted assessments published in the Dec. 13 Press-Record. They have 20 days from that date in which to obtain and file assessment protest forms.

The group said it does not oppose the concept of valuation revisions, but feels that Nameoki Township residents will pay a disproportionate share of the county tax burden during the period before other areas are assessed.

Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell, who presided, said he is not critical of Madison County Supervisor of Assessments James Barton but that he does oppose what he feels is the county's decision to proceed with only part of the county in its revisions.

Along with populous Nameoki, only agricultural Saline and Marine Townships were changed, although work has been under way for two years and some counties have been completed in a six-month period by utilizing outside experts, Whitsell said.

He relayed reports that many staff members who reassessed Nameoki Township were not recognized appraisers.

Noel, 183 families contributed $365 Saturday. Additional proceeds can be submitted by Nameoki Township residents to: Nameoki Taxpayers for Uniform County-Wide Taxation, Nameoki Town Hall, 4250 Highway 162, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

United agencies will get 104%

The Tri-Cities Area United Way board voted Thursday afternoon to distribute funds to member agencies during 1974 on the basis of fall 1973 campaign receipts of $411,673.

The figure is $18,121 more than the original allocations of $393,461.

The $16,212 surplus is 4.09 per cent of the $398,461 total, indicating that each agency will receive during the coming year 104.09 per cent of its previously determined allocation.

United Fund President Paul H. Kelly, plant manager at the A. O. Smith Corp. auto frame plant here, presided at the board session and also at an executive committee meeting immediately preceding it.

The recommendation on distribution of funds was approved as presented by the executive committee, along with a recommendation to eventually reduce the size of the United Way board of directors from 75 to 40.

At present, 25 are elected each year to three-year terms. Future elections will total 10 directors each year, with all who currently serve on the United Way board completing their present terms without change.

Reese heads Lay Advisory Board

John W. "Jack" Reese has been elected as president of the St. Elizabeth Hospital Lay Advisory Board.

Reese, a resident of Granite City, married and the father of seven children, is president of Reese Drug Stores. He attended Granite City High School and the University of Colorado, where he received his degree in the field of business and marketing.

Reese has served on the boards of the First Granite City National Bank, Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and Tri-Cities Area United Way.

He hopes during his tenure of office "to better the financial state of the hospital while keeping costs down, to encourage patients to seek medical care as possible and to progress in relieving the hospital's debt."

President Reese summed up his feelings about the new position by saying, "It is an honor to have the office, but the real honor comes from serving on the board."

Melvin C. Wilmseymer is the newly-elected vice-president of the local hospital's Lay Advisory Board. He began serving on the board in 1969.

Born in Franklin, Mo., he attended schools there. He attended the Inter-Agency Bank Examiners' School and graduated from the Graduate School of Banking, University of Missouri.

He and his wife and eight children have resided in Granite City for the past eight years. Wilmseymer is president

City approves bond payments

An ordinance authorizing an agreement between the First Granite City National Bank and Granite City for administration of bond proceeds that will be used to pay off an old bond issue that finance construction of the city's primary treatment plant was enacted in a special meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

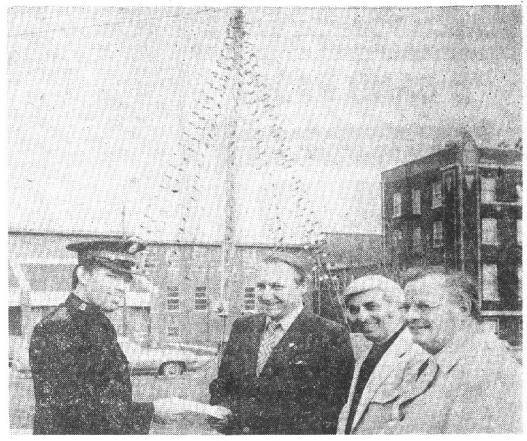

Under the agreement, the city will deposit with the bank the sum of $1,015,000 which will be used to purchase the outstanding primary treatment plant bonds which will become redeemable in 1984.

The $1,015,000 to be deposited with the bank will come available from the proceeds of a $1.1 million bond issue sold by the city to Weeden & Co., Chicago bonding firm, in mid-November to finance the new Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant now under construction on the Granite City Army Installation grounds.

The money from the bond sale is expected to be received by the city this week.

The council Thursday night also authorized Horace Calvo, special city attorney for the treatment plant bond issue, and City Clerk Robert Strumgo, go to Chicago today to sign the bonds at the Weeden & Co. offices.

In 1964, the city authorized a

Steel officials met attorney general

Nicholas P. Veeder, Granite City Steel chairman, said yesterday he was among a group which met with then Attorney General John Mitchell in July 1971. The U. S. Justice Department the following month approved the merger.

He said he was unaware that the Justice official that Peter M. Flaminio, presumably acting for President Nixon, instructed Mitchell to allow the merger.

The St. Louis newspaper said the meeting was attended by Veeder; the late Lyle F. Gulley, then president of Granite City Steel; George Stinson, president of National Steel; Mitchell; DeVier Pierson, a Chicago attorney who represented National in the merger; and Richard W. McLaren, then assistant attorney general in charge of the Antitrust Division and now a U. S. district judge in Chicago.

Stinson denied Saturday that political contributions or influence played a part in the merger. He denied ever discussing the merger with Presidential fund raisers.

Stinson was quoted as saying he discussed problems in the steel industry with Flaminio and Maurice H. Stans, but never in the context of his company's merger. He said he has no reason to believe that the merger was allowed for any reason other than its merits.

He said he was unaware that the Antitrust Division opposed the merger.

The Post-Dispatch said unnamed Congressional antitrust experts felt the merger was in conflict with the Clayton Antitrust Act. A key point is whether the local plant—whose earnings and debt were matters of concern—was technically a separate company.

National Steel was the fourth largest steelmaker in the nation prior to the merger and now is the third biggest. Production at Granite City Steel has reached a record level since the acquisition.

At the time the merger was being completed 28 months ago, a Justice Department statement said it had made "a careful review" and permitted the merger on the basis of "the specific facts and circumstances." It said the decision "represents no change in antitrust policy."

Records of the Common Cause organization are said to show that officers and directors of National and Granite City Steel and of the Hanna Mining Co., Cleveland, and relatives of such officials contributed at least $10,000 in the President's re-election campaign.

The late George M. Humphrey, who was chairman of National Steel, became Secretary of the Treasury in the original Cabinet of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Pres. Nixon was Vice President during that time.

A son, Gilbert W. Humphrey, chairman of the National Steel board's executive committee, is chairman and chief executive officer of Hanna Mining.

Most of the election campaign contributions said to have been made by Granite City Steel directors were by L. J. Sverrup, who also has many business and engineering interests in St. Louis. He is described as giving $19,000 of a $24,000 GC Steel total.

Contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign set off in all parts of the nation and he carried 49 of the 50 states in the 1972 election.

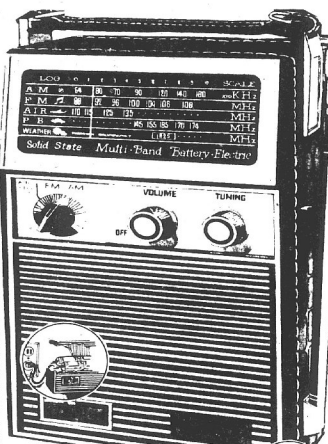

Some of the newspapers urging his impeachment or resignation have sought to link specific campaign gifts with governmental decisions that may have aided the contributors.

Dr. Harry Epstein to end 55-year practice

Dr. Harry Epstein, 1248 Niedringhaus Ave., a practicing optometrist in Granite City for 55 years, will retire Dec. 31.

He and his wife, Fanny, who has served as his office receptionist the past 20 years, are planning to remain in the community but to "take things easier." They may do some traveling in future months, the couple reports.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Epstein are active members of the community, having served in some capacity in most health and welfare-youth oriented organizations during their residency here.

In 1960, Dr. Epstein was presented the "National Silver Beaver" award, the highest honor in scouting, by the Chokoma Mount Council, Boy Scouts of America, marking a long, active association in the scouting movement.

He is a past president and secretary of B'Nai B'rith Men's Lodge of the Tri-Cities and is a 50-year member of the Knights of Pythias, in which he served as chancellor commander.

For many years, Dr. Epstein was a member of the Tri-City Area YMCA board of directors. Hundreds of area residents have been patients of Dr. Epstein over the years. His current list of clients include great-grandchildren of his original patients.

A 1911 graduate of an optometrist college in Detroit, Mich., Dr. Epstein practiced briefly in Montreal, Canada, before coming to St. Louis where he worked a short time prior to opening his practice here.

Marian Krpan, 32, of 31 Victoria Drive, hurt at 2:15 p.m. Saturday in an auto accident at Highways 111 and 162, was released after being treated that evening at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She had left ear and head bruises.

DR. HARRY EPSTEIN Plans to retire

During the intervening years, the optometrist has continued to update his knowledge in his profession, frequently attending seminars and special courses of study.

He and the former Fanny Kaufman of St. Louis were married March 6, 1921, by the late Rabbi Samuel Thurman at the United Hebrew Temple in St. Louis.

On the couple's 52nd wedding anniversary, their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David "Maxine" Arst of Creve Coeur, Mo., were married by the same Rabbi Thurman. Since that time the two couples have celebrated their wedding anniversaries together each year.

Dr. and Mrs. Epstein also were parents of a son, William M. Epstein, who died in 1941. They have two grandchildren, Monte William and Rhonda Holene Arst of Creve Coeur.

Appeals Board votes approval of 8 requests

The Madison County Board of Appeals has returned recommendations in eight area zoning cases. The recommendations will be presented to the Madison County Board for consideration at its meeting Wednesday.

The board recommended approval of a request to rezone three parcels of land between Nameeki, Morrison and Maryville roads in Chouteau Township from an R-3 single family residential district to a B-3 highway business district. The request was submitted by Frances D. and Frank E. Flynn, Frances L. and Leland H. Holt, and Marilyn I. and Harry D. Deatherage, owners of the three parcels.

A petition by Georgia E. and Vernon Anderson, owners and Gage A. and Terry Young, purchasers, for a special use permit also was considered and approval was recommended with a stipulation that a maximum of five horses be kept in a barn proposed for the site. The property is on St. Thomas Road near Route 151 in an R-3 district of Chouteau Township.

Approval also was recommended of a petition by Henry and Louise Brisk, owners, and Cyril R. Jacobs, purchaser, for a special use permit to keep ponies on property in an R-3 district at 2620 Highway 3 in Venice Township.

The board recommended issuance of a special use permit to Marie D. Klann, owner, and R. Joseph Opperman, representative of Marathon Pipe Line Co., to erect, operate and maintain a pipe line pump station in an Agricultural district along Route 162 about three miles west of Route 157 in Nameeki Township.

The remaining four requests were for special use permits to place mobile homes on property. Approval was recommended on all four.

Petitions to place mobile homes were submitted by: Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ornduff, owners, and Mildred Juenger, occupant, for a mobile home in R-4 single family residential district at 3121 Fairmont Ave., in State Park Place; James L. Winning of Madison County Federal Savings and Loan, owners, and Michael Weiser, occupant and purchaser, to place a mobile home in R-2 single family residential district in the Bloodworth Subdivision on North Street in Venice Township.

Barbara Hammond, owner and occupant, for a double wide mobile home in an Agricultural District near Old Chain of Rocks and St. Thomas roads in Chouteau Township, and Daniel and Anna Wofford, owners and occupants, for a mobile home in an Agricultural District off Route 3 near the western end of West Pontoon Road in Venice Township.

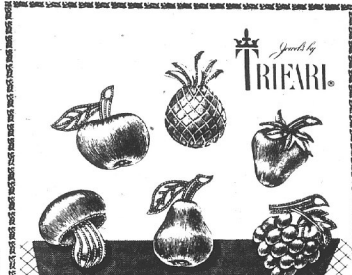

Free calls for free tax help

Starting today, the Internal Revenue Service is offering a new toll-free telephone service to Illinois taxpayers who need assistance with their federal income tax. The toll-free service is part of a nationwide system which will permit taxpayers to have access to free tax information Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Leon C. Green, IRS district director for Central and Southern Illinois, said Illinois taxpayers may reach an IRS representative any weekday by dialing 800-252-2921 in the same manner that they would place any long-distance call. The number is contained in the federal income tax forms package which taxpayers will receive in late December.

News notes

Emergency energy legislation passed 25-12 by the House Friday night calls for a cutoff of petroleum exports for Indochina military purposes and a ban on fuel use to bus children beyond their neighborhood schools. It would give the President authority to ration gasoline or other scarce fuels.

Chrysler Corp. said Friday it is raising 1974 auto prices by an average of $193. General Motors and Ford announced price hikes earlier last week.

Deadline for displaying 1974 auto license plates is Feb. 15, and applications should reach Springfield no later than Jan. 15. Reassignment of special plates at present is running "substantially behind schedule."

If TWA stewards and stewardesses accept a tentative contract agreement tomorrow, flights are to be resumed Wednesday. The strike began Nov. 5.

Although Illinois lost out to Ohio as the site of an experimental coal conversion facility, Southern Illinois will be considered for the Old Ben Coal Company's first major commercial development of the process, former Lieut. Gov. Paul Simon reports. The plan is intended to change coal into a low-sulfur, clean-burning fuel for commercial use.

Gov. Walker will appoint a state education board in the spring rather than by the Jan. 1 deadline in the law creating the 17-member board. A committee that will suggest 30 names will not finish its task until March 1.

The Illinois Supreme Court said Friday that 104 highway supervisors laid off by the governor were legally terminated despite their civil service status. The class-action ruling also applied to other state workers laid off rather than fired.

The U.S. Senate voted Friday for a nationwide 55-mile-an-hour speed limit for all vehicles.

Negotiations are continuing between sheriff deputies and County Board members. A meeting Saturday failed to resolve a pay disagreement.

Redefining of the top three SIU jobs again was postponed by the SIU board Thursday.

The Illinois Community College Board formally placed the Quad-Cities, Collinsville, Troy and Highland into Belleville Area College territory at meeting Friday in Springfield, effective July 1, 1974. State Community College in East St. Louis will retain state funding without property taxation there, and the SCC board will receive governing power, with members to be appointed by the governor.

The St. Louis Army Engineer District said Saturday it is launching a three-year study that will lead to a comprehensive water use plan for the entire metropolitan area, for consideration by Illinois and Missouri governors in April 1976.

Records needed to obtain $2 million federal aid for construction work, related to an Interstate 44-Route 111 project, are missing from the apartment of Al Driemer, 3912B Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach; he can be contacted at 797-9614.

negotiations are continuing between sheriff deputies and

Tentative Dow valuation pact

A tentative agreement to reduce the equalized assessed valuation of Dow Chemical Co. facilities here has been reached by the company and representatives of local taxing bodies. The agreement is subject to approval by the Illinois Property Tax Appeal Board.

A reduction of $600,000 in real estate and personal property assessments for 1972 is provided, with the assessment dropping another $1 million this year. A $1,135,800 decrease is called for next year with at least a $1 million decrease the following year.

If the agreement is allowed to stand, through 1975, the plant would be assessed at about $4,353,300, or slightly more than half the 1972 assessment of $8,089,180.

The Dow property currently is leased by Consolidated Aluminum Corp. (Conalco).

Steel merger

nation program was carried out at Granite City Steel in the 1960s, including a new computerized hot strip mill and basic oxygen steelmaking furnaces, the facilities were not being fully used.

While National Steel's need for such production capabilities was cited as making the merger a logical step, the combining of the two firms was viewed as enhancing competition in the steel industry rather than decreasing it.

This point apparently was not accepted by Lionel Epstein, an antitrust economist who prepared an analysis of the merger plan.

It was Epstein's belief that the Granite City plant had no serious financial problems although its share of the market was declining — and although its high debt indicated it probably could not finance any future round of technological changes required to remain competitive.

McLaren was questioned by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D, Michigan) in March at confirmation hearings for Richard G. Kleindienst at Attorney General McLaren said the steel merger violated antitrust guidelines and "I took the position that we ought to go ahead and file the case" to oppose it.

Other government agencies, including the Council of Economic Advisers, were said to favor the merger.

Sen. Hart said his antitrust subcommittee should have taken a closer look and should have obtained an explanation from the Justice Department on why it did not oppose the merger.

The Post-Dispatch said courts would not authorize the merger if Mitchell used as his reasoning that it was more competitive than anti-competitive. Mitchell, who is under indictment in New York, currently is not granting interviews.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader said Mitchell twice overruled McLaren's recommendation that the merger be challenged. Mitchell could not recall ever discussing the steel case with Mitchell.

Lottery law is signed
Gov. Daniel Walker announced Saturday he has signed a bill creating a state-run lottery effective next July 1. The bill would produce $70 million to $100 million yearly for the state treasury, and predicted that "it will be honestly run."

Some legislators say they will seek to amend the law early in 1974 to advance the starting date to early spring.

Revenue Director Robert Alphin said he will propose tickets selling for 50 cents.

A five-member board will set rules and inspect lottery operations. In other states with lotteries, about 40 per cent of the money collected goes to the state, 45 per cent for prizes and 15 per cent for administrative costs.

Mrs. Wilson dies
Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at East St. Louis Funeral Home for Mrs. Bernice Wilson, 44, of 2310 North 59th St., East St. Louis, mother of Mrs. Charles Gallamore and sister of David Stagg, both of Granite City.

Mrs. Wilson died Saturday at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. She also leaves her husband, seven other daughters, six sons, her mother, two sisters and two other brothers.

Clem Riggs, Grover Riggs, George Riggs, Lawrence Riggs and Elmer Carlson. Funeral services at 10 a.m. Tuesday, Dec. 18, at LAHEY FUNERAL HOME, Fifth Street and Madison Avenue, Madison. Interment Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

SHIRLEY, CHARLIE, 2907
Madison Ave. Entered into rest 5:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, 1973, at home.

Dear son of Mrs. Maude Shirley; dear brother of Miss Lorena Shirley, Mrs. Naomi Hansen and Thomas Shirley. Funeral services 1 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 18, at MERCER MORTUARY, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City, Interment at Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Truck stoppage ends Saturday

National truckers' tie-ups, protesting higher fuel prices and decreased truck speed limits, extended into this area Thursday and Friday as trucks blocked diesel fuel pumps at the Gateway Truck Stop, Route 303 at Interstate 70, and at the Union 76 and Standard Plaza truck stops near Troy.

State police said there was no violence in this area. Truckers were "just waiting to see what would happen," according to a Gateway Truck Stop official. He asked them to "fill their rigs and move on" at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and they complied.

He said diesel fuel now is selling for 42.9 cents per gallon today. It was 38.5 cents just two weeks ago.

Meanwhile, some gasoline prices in this region have passed 50 cents a gallon for autos.

Stereo equipment valued at more than $1,600 was taken from the apartment of Roy Taylor, 3215 Maryville Road, it was at 1 a.m. Saturday.

Board due to act on change of county election dates

The Madison County Board is scheduled to act Wednesday on a proposal that the 1974 County Board elections be held concurrently with the regular primary and general elections.

The switch in dates may be made under state legislation approved by the General Assembly. The County Board primary had been scheduled for Feb. 14 and the general election on April 2.

If the County Board approves a recommendation by the resolutions committees that the date be changed, the County Board primary would be held on March 19 along with the regular primary election for nomination of state, district and county officials. The election would be held on Nov. 5, at the same time as the regular runoff balloting.

County officials said such a change would save the county approximately $100,000 in the two elections.

'Tree of Lights' goal

With eight days remaining before Christmas Day and only four days until food baskets are distributed to area families in need, the Salvation Army's "Tree of Lights" campaign today stands at $10,200.

A minimum of $13,500 is being sought this year to meet the needs of those requiring assistance. The symbolic tree in Civic Park is illuminated with 408 colored lights, each representing a gift of $25.

Letters to families, whose applications for Christmas aid were approved, are being mailed today, according to Ralph Astorian, drive chairman. Families will pick up their baskets at designated times and changes required to remain competitive.

McLaren was questioned by Sen. Philip A. Hart (D, Michigan) in March at confirmation hearings for Richard G. Kleindienst at Attorney General McLaren said the steel merger violated antitrust guidelines and "I took the position that we ought to go ahead and file the case" to oppose it.

Other government agencies, including the Council of Economic Advisers, were said to favor the merger.

Sen. Hart said his antitrust subcommittee should have taken a closer look and should have obtained an explanation from the Justice Department on why it did not oppose the merger.

The Post-Dispatch said courts would not authorize the merger if Mitchell used as his reasoning that it was more competitive than anti-competitive. Mitchell, who is under indictment in New York, currently is not granting interviews.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader said Mitchell twice overruled McLaren's recommendation that the merger be challenged. Mitchell could not recall ever discussing the steel case with Mitchell.

Truck stoppage ends Saturday

National truckers' tie-ups, protesting higher fuel prices and decreased truck speed limits, extended into this area Thursday and Friday as trucks blocked diesel fuel pumps at the Gateway Truck Stop, Route 303 at Interstate 70, and at the Union 76 and Standard Plaza truck stops near Troy.

State police said there was no violence in this area. Truckers were "just waiting to see what would happen," according to a Gateway Truck Stop official. He asked them to "fill their rigs and move on" at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and they complied.

He said diesel fuel now is selling for 42.9 cents per gallon today. It was 38.5 cents just two weeks ago.

Meanwhile, some gasoline prices in this region have passed 50 cents a gallon for autos.

Ball-hawking Trojans trim Steelers, 65-46

By KEN THOMPSON

Press-Record Staff Writer
"The best defense is a good offense," particularly if a team can control rebounds, intercept or steal the ball repeatedly. The philosophy includes taking enough time and making deliberate passes until one of the players is in an ideal scoring position.

This was put into practice Saturday night at the Granite City South gymnasium by Madison Coach Larry Graham and his Trojans as they rolled to a 65-46 victory over the Steelers of Granite City North.

Madison executed a full-court press which virtually ripped the Steelers apart. In addition to their "defensive offensive" tactics, the Trojans, displayed additional defense that made them doubly tough to beat.

The Trojans forced 32 turnovers in the game while giving up possession 22 times. They brought down 30 of their own rebounds to North's 10 and recovered 17 defensively, while hitting on 25 field goals in 56 attempts.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Each team fouled 19 times and again MHS edged out North, making 15 of 25 from the free throw line compared to the Steelers' 10 out of 24.

A good example of ball control was witnessed in the second period when Jon Henke recovered a Steeler rebound and slowly brought the ball down court.

He short-passed to Ron Gager who in turn sent it sailing outside to Rudolph Bradley. Bradley passed off to Chris Stanley for a corner shot which missed. Bradley then rebounded and put it into the net to give Madison an eight-point lead.

The Trojans outscored North 20-10 in the second period for a 32-20 halftime lead after holding a slim 12-10 edge at the end of the first quarter.

Down by 11 late in the third period, Dave Schneckle plunked one in for North with 26 seconds left and immediately Madison brought the ball down to score on a 25-foot shot by Rudolph Bradley to end the period at 44-33.

Don Lloyd, who committed four fouls, suffered a pulled muscle and had to be sidelined. North fought back with a one-handed shot from 20 feet out by Gene Logas to again move within 11 points, 50-39.

But the Trojans pulled ahead by 18 for a 65-44 score. In the final seconds, Schneckle stepped to the free throw line and added two points for the Steelers.

Five players narrowly missed being taken out of the contest on fouls. Besides Lloyd, Schneckle had four and three Trojans, Bradley, Stanley and Daryl Franklin, each committed four fouls.

Franklin led Madison with five goals and three free throws for 13 points. Four other Trojans totaled in double figures—Henke, 12, Bradley, 11, and Stanley and Glasper, 10 each. Campbell scored nine points. Stanley snared 14 rebounds.

Seven players added to North's total points. Schneckle with 15 on six field goals and three free throws recovered five Steeler rebounds and one on offense. Mike Waldo had seven points. Greg Gauen, Logas and Cary Simpson six apiece; Daryl Franklin and John Baker, two points.

Madison, now 6-2, posted its fifth consecutive win and the Steelers maintain an edge in the win column with a 3-2 record. The Trojans will be idle until Thursday, Dec. 27, when they carry their winning streak against Roxana in the opening round of the Edwardsville holiday tournament.

North in Edwardsville cage tourney

The sixth annual Edwardsville Holiday Basketball Tournament will begin with first round competition at 9 a.m., Thursday, Dec. 27, and will end Saturday, Dec. 29, with a new champion being crowned.

The 1973 field of sixteen teams sports three new entries. Glenbard East of Lombard, the new GCHS North and Peoria Woodruff. North and Woodruff are in Edwardsville's bracket.

A new champion will be crowned since the Lincoln Rail-splitters withdrew after winning back-to-back titles in 1971 and 1972. Last year's runnerup and 1970 champion Bloomington, also will not return.

Edwardsville, which meets Litchfield at 8 p.m. game the first day, is entered in its own tournament as the favorite.

Glenbard East and Bethalto will kick off the first round action at 9 a.m. Madison, which captured third place consolation honors last year after downing Gillespie 59-34 and Bethalto 58-44, is paired at 10:30 a.m. with Roxana. Action at 1 p.m. will match East St. Louis and Jerseyville.

Other first round action pits Peoria Woodruff and Highland at 2:30 p.m., Elk Grove against Triad at 4 p.m., Hillsboro vs. Wood River at 6:30 p.m. and the Steelers of GCHS North will clash with Robinson at 9:00 p.m. The tournament will be a first for the new Granite City High School.

Games the second day will be alternated between the losers' and winners' brackets, beginning at 9 a.m. On the third day, the 9 a.m. session will have consolation bracket semifinalists playing. That afternoon, the first two games will be championship semifinals.

Jr. high cagers in competition

The Spartan cagers of Madison Junior High remain undefeated in Madison County Junior High Conference basketball competition after rallying behind the high scoring of Andy Ellis to defeat Edwardsville 46-41 at Madison Thursday. Ellis hit a season high of 24 points in one game.

The seventh grade Spartans also downed the visiting Edwardsville team, 51-36. Eric Stanley, with 17 points and Danny Rogers with 16 points, were the high scorers for Madison in that game.

Across town the same night, Coolidge cager Jeff Parker made good two shots from the free throw line after being fouled with one second remaining in the game to give the seventh grade team a 39-29 victory over the Prather Chiefs. Terry Angle scored 17 points for the Coolidge eighth graders, giving them a 47-42 win over Prather. Prather has been denied victory in five consecutive outings.

The Grigsby Gators dropped a dual game to Collinsville North on the Gators' home court Thursday, 37-33 in seventh grade competition and 43-40 at the eighth grade level. Brad Gauen scored 16 points for Grigsby in the latter game.

Williams eight, Bob Hutchings and Keith Gehling six points apiece and Mike Martinez and Terry Hollis, two points each. At Belleville West, the Maroons ran up a 16-5 lead in the first period and were on top 38-25 at the half. Each team recorded 23 points in the torrid third quarter, which ended 61-49.

The Warriors were within striking distance, but instead the hosts gained a 20-12 edge in the final quarter to win by a 20-point margin.

Steeler gridders honored

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

"With a very young team, three returning lettermen and maturing young players, the Granite City North Steelers got off to a slow start, losing their first four games, and then turned the season around with four wins in a row.

"In their four game winning streak, the Steelers beat two powerful Southwestern Conference teams (Edwardsville and Collinsville) and was the only team to shutout Edwardsville in that teams last 26 outings."

These words were spoken last week by Tom Wyrostek, head coach of GCHS North, while addressing an audience of some 200 who had gathered to honor the school's first football team.

The Steelers, ranked 10th in the area for large schools, turned in a very impressive first year record of 4-5 after having played against some of the toughest schools in the state—Jacksonville, East St. Louis Assumption, Madison, Roxana, Wood Edwardsville, Bethalto, Collinsville and Mattoon.

North, in its four victories, posted two shutouts over opponents, 20-0 over Edwardsville and 20-0 over Bethalto. The Steelers posted a 41-8 win over Madison and a 17-7 win over Collinsville.

Lenny Wright, honored at the banquet as the varsity squad's Most Valuable Defensive Back, helped the Steelers down Collinsville with a 45-yard field goal on a fourth down and 20 yards to go situation.

The Collinsville victory was also highlighted by Billy Carr's pass interceptions, he was selected as most valuable of defensive back, and John McMillon's defensive rushes which helped stop Collinsville's ground game. McMillon was honored as the most valuable player of the football Steelers. In upsetting the Edwardsville Tigers, North's defensive squad held the enemy to 136 yards rushing and 43 in passing while the Steeler offensive players pounded out 145 yards on the ground, 102 by Carr, and 107 yards in the air.

But perhaps the Steelers showed the fans that they will be a top contender next year by their performance in the season finale against Mattoon, the Big 12 Conference champion.

North, down 26-0 in the third quarter at Mattoon, scored on an eight-yard TD pass from Quarterback Gene Logas to Robert Wilson.

Two more Steeler touchdown drives followed, Carr going across from the three-yard line and Ed Settles tallying on a two-yard run.

Another touchdown and extra point would have earned a tie and an after-touchdown pass or run could have provided a narrow North victory, but time ran out for the game, and the season, before the rally could go any farther.

Seniors among those on the varsity squad receiving school letters were: Richard Bohlenstiel, the team's offensive captain, and Dennis Hahn, Theodore Kwiatkowski, defensive captain John McMillon, Otto Seebold and James E. Settle.

Other varsity letter award recipients were James Barker, Billy Carr, Mark Davis, Mike Doneff, Raymond Fyalka, David Hamilton, Robert Hoshouser, Gene Logas, Keith Lucas, Edward Schmidt, John Scott, Cary Simpson, Robert Bruce Wilson, Lenny Wright, Paul Staydhar, Larry Schleicher, James Moske, and Scott Fanning.

Matmen on road

Coach Larry Kristoff's SIUE grapplers will return to the mats Tuesday when they travel to Minneapolis for a dual meet against the University of Minnesota at 7:30 p.m.

The Cougar wrestling team ran its dual meet record to 3-0 by downing MacMurray College last week in Jacksonville. Although five SIUE starters did not wrestle because of injuries, the Cougars still earned seven victories in 10 weight classes.

Speaking directly to the departing seniors who will graduate before the 1974 football year begins, Wyrostek said, "Thanks. We will carry on in the winning ways which you have started."

NCAA financial aid to athletes

For the first time since intercollegiate athletic competition for men began in 1968, SIUE will be able to make National Collegiate Athletic Association financial aid awards.

The SIUE Board on Thursday authorized establishment of 114 NCAA awards covering tuition, room and board and student fees. All costs, except for tuition waivers, will be funded from the SIUE athletic fund, to which students contribute $10 a quarter in fees.

In addition, the trustees approved 26 supplementary tuition waivers. The NCAA awards are the maximum number permitted under recently adopted regulations. SIUE is eligible to utilize a larger number of tuition waivers so long as other components of the NCAA awards are not used at the maximum level permitted by the NCAA limitations.

Total cost of the awards approved by the trustees for SIUE is $274,616. The maximum dollar expenditure allowed under NCAA regulations is $318,901.

Limited athletic scholarships have been granted previously at SIUE through the student activity grant program. Bob Guelker, SIUE athletic director, said about 50 scholarships of this type are currently in use. The NCAA grants will take the place of the activity grants, freeing the 50 scholarships for other uses.

The intercollegiate athletic program at Carbondale currently has 220 authorized NCAA grants.

The NCAA awards proposal was developed by the SIUE committee on intercollegiate athletics. SIUE men now compete in soccer, baseball, basketball, cross country, wrestling, track and field, golf and tennis.

North cagers divide a pair

The freshmen and sophomore cagers of Granite City High School North split a pair on the road Wednesday at O'Fallon 71-59 to avenge a 79-43 loss by their underclassmen.

"We jumped off to a 25-6 first quarter lead," recalls sophomore coach Tom Wyrostek. "From there it was just a matter of extending the lead."

Heading the scoring spree for North were: Jim Woodward, 18 points; Rick Sparlock, 15; Tom Schocker and Larry Schleicher, with 13 points each.

The Steelers freshmen game had Kevin Marcus hitting the basket for the most team points, 12.

Wyrostek said the freshmen and sophomore games with Assumption, which were scheduled to be played Thursday, were cancelled, and will not be rescheduled.

Budgetary layoffs but jobs for Walker aides

By AL MANNING
Springfield Bureau
The payroll of the Department of Transportation, where several hundred employees were laid off for "budgetary reasons," is padded with assistants to Gov. Daniel Walker.

Aides listed as working for Transportation include: Squire Lance, $20,280-a-year, previously identified as an assistant to the governor, a technical manager VII in Transportation; Nancy Philippi, $27,000, rejected by the State Senate as assistant director of Local Governmental Affairs, a technical administrator VI in the maintenance section; and Olga Corey, $26,040, head of the State of Illinois office in Washington, D. C. and also a technical administrator VI in maintenance.

Although Transportation Secretary Langhorne Bond has the money to add them to this staff, the department last summer had to lay off 700 employees, including scores who had five, 10 or 20 years' experience. They were told there was a lack of money in the budget.

Bond doesn't think it is inconsistent to hire new people after firing others.

"It's one thing to cut in one area and then add in another," he said.

"Where extra people are needed, we don't hesitate to put them on. It's all a question of need."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Page 8 Mon., Dec. 17, 1973

Carrying assistants on state payrolls is not new in state government, of course.

The Ogilvie administration, for example, didn't place all of the Washington staff on the governor's payroll because of the heat he was taking for increasing his personal staff.

Unlike Walker, Ogilvie had his top Washington staffer on his own payroll.

But Ogilvie didn't lay off hundreds of career employees, either. And Walker, remember, pledged to end "politics as usual."

Bond at least had an explanation as to what the high-priced aides did for his department. However, others weren't so sure.

When asked what Lance does, a spokesman said: "You've got me there."

And when we called Washington, Marcia Timmers (an Ohio native who holds a $12,000-a-year position in the maintenance section of Transportation) rattled off a whole list of responsibilities without mentioning Transportation.

When we asked why she was involved by Transportation, she said: "Oh, it's a technicality that we are on their payroll. I'll have to tell you talk to somebody else."

Bond said Lance was "very instrumental" in working out minority problems, especially in hiring practices as it applied to highway contractors; Nancy Philippi is director of the task force on flood control; and Olga Corey and Marcia Timmers serve as liaison for the state's many pending issues in Washington, including the controversial Chicago Cresson Expressway.

Although they may do a "whole lot of other stuff" for other government agencies, Bond said, he considers them full-time for his department.

College center bids are low

Favorable action is anticipated on a $281,894 bid by L. Wolf Co. of Granite City to perform general work in erecting a multi-purpose student center for Belleville Area College. Along with bids on plumbing, heating, refrigeration, ventilation and electrical work, the low bids exceed $400,000 but are well below estimates.

A decision is scheduled for Dec. 19. No new taxes are involved and a fourth of the cost is to be paid from student activity fees. The other three-fourths will be advanced from BAC investment interest and then paid by the Illinois Capital Development Board.

A Gift for the CHILD

On that first Christmas, so long ago, came strangers bearing gifts for the wondrous Child. And thus began our warm tradition of holiday giving.

This year, we are trying to relive the spirit of that first Christmas. We have asked our employees to imagine the Christ Child has been born this Christmas. We asked them to present a Gift for the Child. A gift, created or bought, that shows the depth of their feeling at the coming of this miracle.

These gifts will be on display beneath our lobby Christmas tree. You will be surprised at the ingenuity, variety and exquisite beauty of their selections.

And, just in time for Christmas, these gifts will be distributed among the less fortunate children in the Tri-Cities by the Salvation Army.

And if you would like to submit a gift, we will display it underneath our tree as your token of the true revival of the holiday spirit.

*Due to the energy crisis, First Bank has extinguished all exterior and interior lights, including our beautiful traditional lobby Christmas Tree, except those necessary to meet minimum security requirements. This temporary action in no way dims our sincere wishes for a happy holiday season to all our many customers and friends of the Quad-Cities.

Charlie Brown play at Parkview

A play entitled "Charlie Brown's Christmas," directed by Mrs. Mary Jane Fester and presented by the students of the second and sixth grades of Parkview School, was viewed by parents and friends at the school last week.

As the play ended the cast, chorus and audience sang, "Silent Night."

It was announced the PTA Unit will not have a meeting in January. For the first program in February there will be a guest speaker who will discuss the drug problem. The March program will relate to the subject of child abuse and will be for adults only.

Miss Connie Farlow, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and served with Mrs. Dave Stovall, Miss Belinda Smith, Miss Cindy Coffey, a cousin of the bride and Miss LeAnn Kehr, the groom's sister, bridesmaids.

They chose dresses made alike in a royal blue velvet in an Empire design enhanced with light blue satin sashes. Tiny blue satin covered buttons closed the cuffs of the long sleeves and trimmed the front bodices.

Each attendant carried a white muff centered with white roses tipped blue.

Jeff Parnell, a cousin of the bride, escorted the flower girl, Christine Shelton, who was dressed identically to the adult bridesmaids.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Gary Kehr.

Groomsmen and ushers included Curtis Howerton, Darrel Johnson, Stan Stafford, Don Farlow, a brother of the bride, Steve Cuppet and Dave Stovall.

Miss Lynda Coffey registered the guests at a reception held at Tri-City Park Tabernacle Church in Granite City.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kehr, parents of the groom, hosted a rehearsal dinner at Tempel's Smorgasbord.

Both mothers selected formal length gowns. Mrs. Farlow appeared in a pink knit dress designed with a ruffled bodice and complemented with pink and gold accessories. She wore a pink rose corsage.

Mrs. Kehr was attired in a blue knit dress with long lace sleeves. Her accessories and flowers were in matching shades of blue.

The newly married couple attended Mid-America Nazarene College in Olathe, Kan., for two years. The former Miss Farlow served as business manager on the school newspaper and was secretary of social affairs in the executive branch of campus government.

She is now employed in the treasury department of St. Louis Union Trust Co.

Her husband presently is attending Forest Park Community College, majoring in mortuary science and is employed at the Collier's Funeral Home, St. Ann, Mo.

CONSTANTINE EXILE
On Dec. 14, 1967, King Constantine of Greece fled to exile after a military junta seized control of the government.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Misses Terrene Holloway and Leah Breeze attended the guest book.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Maylor selected a full length white lace gown fashioned in a silhouette style.

Long tapered sleeves forming points at the wrists were set into a fitted bodice made with a Sabrina neckline. A tiny satin bow at the back accented the bouffant tiered lace skirt that extended to a full sweep train.

She wore a fingertip veil of matching lace etched with sequins and pearls and held a bouquet of white daisies arranged with pink and white roses.

Miss Cathy Goodall, the honor attendant, chose a red floral Empire dress with puff sleeves worn with a white shawl and a white picture hat.

Misses Betty Gasparovic, Laverina Pittman, Susan Ray and Barbara Kilboms, bridesmaids, wore similar gowns in blue fabric. Each attended the groom as best man was his brother, Gary Kehr.

Gitcho to represent U.S. matmen in Russia

Granite City's Jan Gitcho has been selected to join nine other wrestlers in representing the United States on a three-week tour of Russia, starting Feb. 1. They will compete in the World Invitational Championship at Tbilisi, followed by dual meets at Moscow, Kiev, Minsk and other Russian cities.

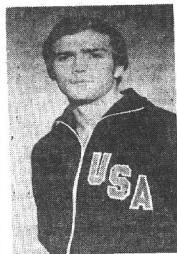

Gitcho began his wrestling career under the able tutelage of Coach William Schmitt at Granite City High School, and continued his career under Larry Kristoff at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Upon graduating from SIUE, he won a berth on the Mayor Daley Wrestling Club where he learned International Free Style Wrestling under former Olympic Coach Terry McCann.

During his senior collegiate year Gitcho defeated both the United States college champion and United States university champion, but was not permitted to wrestle in the nationals when his team was disqualified due to a registration mix-up.

"Having been robbed", remarks Gitcho, "of the opportunity to prove myself the best, I felt that the only way left was to enter International Free Style wrestling against the Olympic hopefuls."

"At 125 pounds, I'm overjoyed that finally I have proved myself and consider myself both lucky and blessed to have been a student of Coach Schmitt."

JAN GITCHO
To wrestle in Russia

He didn't just teach his students techniques, but rather he imbued us with determination and a will to win," Gitcho added.

Coach Schmitt today told the Press-Record, "Jan is an excellent wrestler. He has great speed and is highly regarded all over the country. It was a sad day for wrestling when Gitcho missed being the national champion his senior year of college."

"Jan has beaten everyone, including the defending national champion, and was rated by many coaches as the best in the country," Schmitt concluded.

Vashon stops Venice

The Venice Red Devils, fresh from a 58-45 romp over St. Henry of Belleville, failed to carry their winning ways across the river Saturday night against a tough Vashon High squad, Venice losing 49-63.

"We had the lead for the better part of the first half," recalls Venice Coach Richard Essington, "then they went out in front by six near the end of the second period. From there on we played a game of tag."

along." Venice held a slim four point, 18-14 first period lead before falling behind 36-30 at halftime. The Red Devils scored 14 points in the third quarter while the enemy racked up 17, increasing Vashon's lead to 53-44.

The nine point deficit proved fatal to the Red Devils in the final period of play, even though they outscored Vashon 19-14.

Vashon, now 9-1, rallied for the win behind the 20 points of Rolandis Nash and 18 points by Richard Pettis.

Ron Henry led Venice in scoring with 14 field goals for 28 points, J. B. Harmon added six field goals and two free throws for a total of 14. Mike Logan had five field goals, Reggie Gardner three field goals and two free throws for eight points. Stilton was held to making two free throws, and Mike Henry earned one from the free throw line.

Toys can aid learning

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Madison County Extension Adviser Home Economics

Children's play is hard work. Playing is the best way for children to find out what they and the world are all about. From birth, infants gain physical and social development, emotional release, self-confidence and concept formation through playtime hours. The world of toys serves as their tools and materials for growth, exploration and learning.

Whether a homemade rag doll or an expensive store-bought variety, toys should be selected to facilitate the important learning, motor development, creativity, exploration and understanding that play brings to children.

Basically, play falls into four categories: active play, which develops large motor skills; manipulative, creative play, which allows children to express ideas, make observations and provides initiative and curiosity; imitative, dramatic play, which promotes a use of the imagination and imitation of the world they see around them; and social play, which encourages sharing, fair play and the development of social relationships.

The types of play progress with age and change in importance as a child gets older. Infants play in active, physical and manipulative ways. The five senses are the key to learning, since they cannot move very far.

Large, bright toys that make noise, can be chewed and grasped easily are ideal for the infant. Newborns are fascinated by movement, making mobiles a good choice.

Washable plastic and cloth toys, free from sew-on, easily-swallowed pieces, make sense since infants' toys seem to make a beeline from hand to mouth. Regular washing with suds and water will guarantee clean "chewables" for baby.

The toddlers' world of play is strongly physical, as they try out new standing and walking skills. Toys should enhance the development of physical skills through pushing, pulling, climbing and walking.

They love to manipulate, so rubber or washable squeak toys, dolls or animals may be the perfect diversion from Mom's favorite vase.

Building blocks, push-pull toys and nested containers fascinate and challenge the toddler.

From the age of 2 1/2, a child still plays mainly alone but more actively than ever. New mobility comes as running, jumping and climbing are mastered.

Exploration of self and the world takes over as the important play activity.

Rocking horses, rideable wooden cars or trains, push-pull varieties, large blocks and swings are favorites with the on-the-move babbler.

This age manipulates simple musical instruments, pots and pans and large crayons with interest. Washable cloth picture books of familiar sights, such as animals, enhance learning and curiosity and can be easily cleaned of sticky finger marks.

Children become truly social beings by age four. This interest in others is reflected in their play.

They join forces with one another to imitate in dramatic play the grown-up world they see around them. The stage for "pretend" play is set with washable toys, such as dolls with simple clothes, carriages, dishes, costumes, trucks, cars and small furniture.

Pre-schoolers are gaining control of small motor skills, able to cut, paint and draw crudely. Paints, blackboards, round-ended scissors, crayons and clay help increase skills through play.

As school age is reached, play remains active, social and imaginative, with more challenging physical activity toys that let kids climb, jump rope, swing, bicycle or slide are appropriate.

The kindergarten likes to paint, draw and build in creative expression. Blocks and of the grown-up world is still an important part of playful learning.

As grade school children grow, play becomes more individualized. Toys or crafts which encourage creativity, manipulation and exploration arouse their curiosity and interest.

Coordination and balance make two-wheel bicycles, skates, sleds and sporting equipment all good choices, depending on individual interests. Collections of every type begin now, as do hobbies and interest in musical instruments.

Regardless of the receiver of the toy, a sensible selector will choose one which meets high safety standards. Criteria should include only toys with smooth, finished edges, non-toxic paints, an undecorated seal for electric units and easily-detachable parts.

Solid, sturdy construction is worth the price in safety for the child and longer life for the toy. And well made, easily-washable toys become more hand-me-downs to envious smaller brothers or sisters and friends.

St. Ivany-Hanks wedding at SIU Religious Center

The Religious Center on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was the scene of the wedding on Dec. 22 of Miss Nancy Hanks, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hanks, 1938 Cleveland Blvd., and Gary St. Ivany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert St. Ivany, 3715 Fair Oaks Drive.

Nuptial selections that included the theme from Romeo and Juliet and Wedding March were played by Kim St. Ivany, a sister of the groom.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony were the Rev. James Shortall and the Rev. Roy Bigham.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Hanks was dressed in a candlelight gown created to give the effect of hand-crochet lace, fashioned with a molded bodice, high lace collar and long tapered sleeves with fitted cuffs.

Her chapel-length train was attached at the natural waistline with a small organ ribbon bow to enhance the A-line skirt.

She wore a Juliet cap to secure a veil of bridal illusion and carried a colonial bouquet of American Beauty roses, blue and white statice, baby breath and greenery.

Maid of honor Kathy Kimutis and bridesmaid Dawn Hanks chose identical dresses in an Empire style of pearly printed fabric in blue, red and gold highlights.

Leg-of-mutton sleeves were set into fitted bodices with mandarin collars and a blue velvet ribbon belt defined the high rise waists.

Each attendant held a colonial nosegay of tiny white baby breath and American Beauty roses.

Jerry Ronk attended the groom as best man and Tom Messina was the groomsman. Seating the guests was Dennis Bailey.

A sister of the bride, Mrs. Dennis Bailey, presided over the guest book at a reception given immediately following the ceremony at Tempel's Smorgasbord.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Ivany, parents of the groom, entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal dinner in their home.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hanks selected a formal-length brown velvet dress featuring Venice lace on the yoke, marking the Empire waistline and cuffs of the leg-of-mutton sleeves and forming a high stand-up collar.

Mrs. St. Ivany, mother of the groom, was attired in a full-length black frock made of pink taffeta with Chantilly lace creating the decorative trim at the neckline, waist and cuffs of the long full skirt.

Both mothers wore pink and white carnation corsages. A graduate of Granite City High School, the bride also graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. She now teaches reading at Marshall School.

Mr. St. Ivany will graduate from SIUE in June where he is majoring in urban planning. He also graduated from Granite City High School and served two years in the U. S. Army with a tour of duty in Vietnam.

The newly-married couple is residing in Marine, Ill., following a wedding trip to French Lick, Ind.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Antonelli, Florissant, Mo.; Mrs. Frank Nickolich, Christopher, Ill.; Mrs. Margaret Nickolich, Valer, Ill.; Miss Andrea Reznack, Santa Barbara, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Reznack and daughters Lisa, Karen, and Julie, Houston, Texas; Ted Holmes, Champaign, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Mark St. Ivany, Belleville, Mo.; Mrs. Frank Becker and Cathy and Frank Jr., Caseyville, Mo.

Gregg Goldasick, Springfield, Ill.; Mary Evelyn Murphyboro, Ill.; Miss Wilma Randolph, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Miss Helen Dyer, St. Louis County; Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Mullin and Susan, O'Fallon; Mr. and Mrs. John Knoebloch, Mascoutah, Ill.; Tom Messing, Blumenton, Va.

Mrs. Rea gives club program

In keeping with the theme of the meeting, Mrs. Johnnie Chapman recited one of her own poems entitled, "The Meaning of Christmas."

Miss Lily Del presided at the meeting with 17 members and one associate member present. She gave a report on a district meeting held this month at Fischer's Restaurant in Belleville.

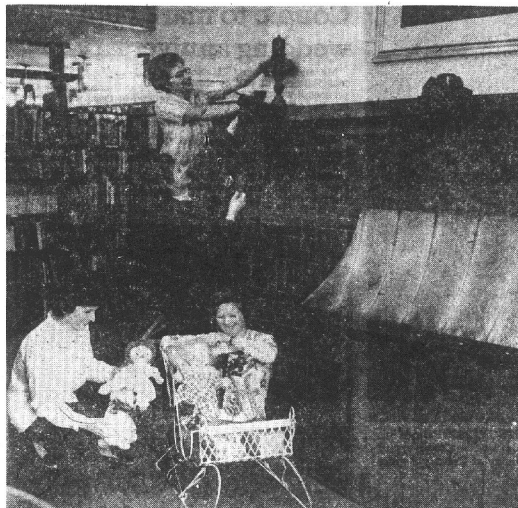

The president read an invitation from the Women's Club of Troy, which will observe its 50th anniversary on Tuesday, Jan. 15, at Frieden's United Church of Christ. Guest speaker for the day will be Mrs. F. B. Westz who will speak on "Women of Today."

How to reduce your Electric Heat bills

to help you get more comfort for less money...

- 1 Proper insulation is one of the best home improvements you can make to conserve energy. When selecting insulation, it pays to know what to look for. The thickness of insulating material does not tell the whole story. Look for the "R" (resistance) value which is stated on the package or in the literature itself. The higher the R-value number, the greater the ability of the insulation to resist heat loss. You can find the R-value you need in various materials and thicknesses.
- 2 When insulating your home, follow the R-values recommended by Illinois Power Company. Use R-19 insulation beneath the roof or attic floor. Use R-11 insulation in outside walls. Use R-13 insulation over the basement or crawl space.

- 3 Weatherstrip all doors and windows to prevent heat loss.
- 4 Use storm doors and windows to eliminate drafts and save electric energy.
- 5 Keep fireplace damper closed when the fireplace is not in use.

- 6 If you have a central heating system, inspect ductwork under the house or in the attic for air leaks through loose or bent connections at joints.
- 7 Check filters prior to (and during) the heating season. Replace the filters when necessary. Some filters are disposable. Others can be washed or vacuumed between changes.
- 8 Avoid frequent opening and closing of outside doors.
- 9 Don't fiddle with thermostats. Find a comfortable setting for each area controlled by a thermostat, and leave it there.

No fault due back

No fault auto insurance will become a reality again in Illinois within two years, Rotarian Harry Thebeau predicted at the Madison Rotary Club meeting last week.

According to Thebeau, the program was ruled unconstitutional because it did not have a clause protecting the pedestrian. He reminded his fellow Rotarians that "no fault" applied to only personal injuries and not to damages to the auto.

Following his opening remarks, he was joined by Rotarian Frank Pijan in a question and answer session regarding auto insurance. Both Rotarians operate insurance agencies.

The club celebrated birthdays of Rotarian's Jack Friedman and the speaker, Thebeau.

The annual Christmas program under the direction of Mrs. Valerie Stevens and including over 50 school children will be presented Wednesday.

Campfire dedication will highlight dinner

The dedication of a new Troop campsite to be erected this Spring at Boy Scout Camp Sunnen for use this summer will be a highlight of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, Fellowship banquet.

The banquet will be held Friday, Dec. 28, in the Madison Recreation Center and will begin with a fellowship hour at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m.

According to Kevin Kearns, dinner chairman, advance reservations must be made at the Boy Scout Service Center, 1338a Niedringhaus Ave., by 5 p.m. Friday. Cost of the dinner, which includes the 1974 lodge dues, is $4.

New Order of the Arrow material including the new handbook will be available at the meeting.

Mike Billery of Venice is Lodge Chief and Reginald Mennick of Granite City is the lodge volunteer advisor.

Completes Alaska academy course

Sergeant Eugene W. Amberger, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Amberger, 2556 Benton St., graduated from the U. S. Army, Alaska Non-Commissioned Officers Academy at Ft. Richardson.

Sgt. Amberger received instruction in drill and ceremonies, physical training, leadership, map reading, and weapons familiarization. The sergeant is assigned as a team chief and a radio relay operator with the 33rd Signal Battalion's 21st Signal Company at Ft. Richardson.

Injured in auto accident

Patricia F. Pryor, 21, Apt. 3, 2254 Washington Ave., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital after bumping her head on a door frame of her auto during an accident.

The Pryor car was struck by a hit and run vehicle traveling on the wrong side of the road at 5:35 p.m. Wednesday as she was traveling south in the 200 block of McCambridge Avenue.

MAKING A SPLASH for the YMCA Swim-Y-Thon, Appellate Court Judge George Moran, left, and Amerik Kachigian, a local attorney, take a dip in the "Y" pool on behalf of the local YMCA and the "Y" World Service program. BURGLARY ON IOWA

Items worth $400 were stolen from a house at 2403 Iowa St. owned by Winifred Foster, 2505 Morrison Road. It was reported last week. The rear door was forced open. Taken were a watch, wedding rings, a 1915 Granite City High School class ring, a recliner, a knife in a wooden holder, four rugs, three bath mats, bed linen and pillows, towels and wash cloths, a wicker stroller, a trunk and two pair of curtains.

Air board, GC Steel drop pollution litigation

The Granite City Air Pollution Control Board agreed in a meeting last week to drop its charges of pollutant emissions against Granite City Steel Co., thus ending a year of litigation in the courts.

Ted Macios, acting technical secretary for the clean air board, said that the steel company has agreed, in turn, to drop its circuit court proceedings requesting a writ of prohibition against the air board's action.

The control board filed pollution charges against the steel firm, but was prevented from conducting hearings after the firm filed its petition for a writ of prohibition. Testimony was taken in several circuit

82 births, 43 deaths occur

A total of 82 births and 43 deaths occurred in the Quad-City area during November, according to a vital statistics report by Robert W. Stevens, clerk of Granite City.

The births bring the total for the first 11 months of the year to 908, or 17 less than the 925 during the same period last year.

A total of 403 deaths during the period was 26 more than the 375 deaths through November of 1972.

Twelve fetal deaths have been reported in the first 11 months of the year, compared with seven in the same period and through all of last year. There were no fetal deaths in November.

Two injured in Delmar accident

Two persons were injured at 5:30 p.m. Friday when an auto driven by Jimmie L. Luckshis, 3409 Glen Place, allegedly struck a parked car, shoving it into another parked vehicle in front of 1820 Delmar Ave.

Hyman N. Gray, 47, of 1901 Spruce St., was released from St. Elizabeth Hospital after receiving treatment for an injury to his right hip. A passenger in the Gray vehicle, which was parked at the curb, Velma Sanders, 12, of 2528 Circle Drive, received minor injuries.

The Gray auto was pushed against the parked auto of Lyman O. Sperry, 2821 Washington Ave. Luckshis said his car's acceleration pedal stuck, causing him to lose control of the vehicle.

Amvets to help needy youth

The annual visit to Peacel Valley Youth Ranch near Carlinville will be made during the weekend by Commander Adam Petras of Amvet Post 51 who will take gifts to the children. It was announced at the group's meeting last week. Petras reported he attended the Amvet State of Illinois executive committee meeting near Chicago, and that Post 51 will host a Division Five meeting in Granite City on Jan. 13.

Santa Claus will be at the Amvet Post home, 5100 Lakeview Drive at 2 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 22, for children of Amvet members.

Petras said the post turkey shoots have ended for this year. He thanked those who helped and participated in them.

The next meeting of Post 51 will be held Jan. 9.

Festival elects Veeder, Townsend, Robertson, Karandjeff as officers

The Mississippi River Festival board last week elected the following officers for one-year terms: Nicholas P. Veeder, chairman of the board; Richard W. Shomaker, president; Michael Witunski, executive vice president; Randall Robertson, C. E. Townsend and Dr. Ramon N. Williamson, vice presidents; Albert Cassens, secretary; and Ernest A. Karandjeff, treasurer.

Re-elected to the Board for three-year terms were Mrs. Howard T. Bland, Alan J. Dixon, Robert S. Gaiswinkler, E. A. Karandjeff, Mrs. Robert H. Lewis II, Lee E. Long, Paul Simon, Edwin J. Spiegel Jr., Dr. Albert W. Triani, A. D. VanMeter Jr. and Ben. H. Wells.

Veeder is chairman of Granite City Steel, Robertson is a Granite City attorney, Townsend is publisher of the Press-Record, Karandjeff is president of the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank and the American National Bank of Granite City and Dr. Triani is a Granite City dentist and dental surgeon.

Three new MRF board members were elected for three-year terms. They are: Ken Anderson of Belleville, president of Artex International Inc.; Highland; Mrs. H. C. Grigg, Clayton; and Frank B. Hamlin, president of Hamlin Casting Corp., Edwardsville.

Mrs. Grigg, active in the Women's Association of the St. Louis Symphony Society for many years and a member of the Board of Trustees of the City Art Museum; and Nicholas Veeder have been named the 1974 chairmen of the Friends of the Mississippi River Festival, an organization of donors to the Festival.

Harry Wilson of Fleishman-Hillard, Inc., was named chairman of the MRF board's Public Relations Committee. The board voted to re-affirm its decision to continue with the Festival's summer concert series in the summer of 1974, and at the same time voted to increase ticket prices for most of the concerts held at the SIUE campus and to provide free parking.

The action followed a decision at the board's October meeting when a motion was approved to go ahead with the 1974 Festival contingent on a plan to reduce the present deficit and to generate additional income.

The 1973 Festival ended with an accumulated deficit of $84,000. The directors anticipate that the increased ticket prices, together with increased grants and contributions, will make it possible to continue the Festival.

The MRF has been obtaining 69.9 per cent of its budget through ticket and coupon sales, with the remaining income derived from grants of the Illinois Arts Council and Missouri State Council on the Arts and contributions from Friends of the MRF.

Ticket prices for the 1974 Festival remain equal or lower than other music festivals throughout the country.

Illness halting some bus trips

Due to an unusually high rate of absenteeism because of illness, there have been occasions recently when a few scheduled bus trips during rush hours have not been operated, a Bi-State Transit spokesman said Saturday.

"This is a temporary situation," he said, "and one that will be rectified in the immediate future as soon as newly hired drivers are properly trained and qualified."

"Meanwhile, we regret the inconvenience caused to some of our passengers during morning and evening rush hours because of this situation."

Jewel loss is $20,000

The loss in the jewelry theft at Hudson Jewelers, 19th and State streets, amounted to approximately $20,000, it had been reported today.

At the time of the theft last week, it was known only that a tray containing 15 diamond rings was stolen. The value was not immediately determined.

A man entered the store, looked at the tray of rings and then fled with the tray. He was chased by store officials to a parking lot in the 1900 block of State Street where the thief and a driver fought them off and fled in the car.

As they were leaving, the driver shot Basil Chisholm, 20, a store employee of Florissant, Mo., injuring his right arm. The wound was minor.

No arrests have been made but Granite City police and detectives said they are conducting an intensive investigation.

AUTOMOBILE IS STOLEN

The 1969 auto of Billy Uhl, 3905 Gaslight Walk, apartment 4, was stolen from in front of his home, he reported last week.

Meeting place important for family fire safety

"Every family should have a meeting place outside their home where they all know to go in case of a fire," Captain Robert Nunn of the Granite City Fire Department told the Breakfast Kiwanis club at its meeting Thursday in Charlie's Restaurant.

"If your families know that in case of a house fire they are to meet outside at a certain point, firemen can tell immediately if everyone is accounted for, or if someone is still inside and may need help," Nunn said.

Nunn remarked that at this time of year, because of Christmas decorations, it is most important that households have good extension cords, proper wiring, fire extinguishers and a clean area. He stressed that every house of two stories should have at least one rope ladder on the second floor.

Nunn informed the club that the Granite City Fire Department employs 43 full-time men on three shifts, affording instant around-the-clock fire protection. The department has a special alarm system for all schools, St. Elizabeth Hospital, library, nursing homes and industrial firms.

The fire protection equipment in the city includes five pumper fire trucks, one aerial truck and one emergency rescue truck. A letter from Kiwanis District Governor Ralph Lindner was read, informing the Kiwanians that due to the fuel shortage they were to limit inner club visits to one auto.

Kiwanian Max Boyd reported the club collected $101 while bell ringing for the Salvation Army.

Charlie Shirley, 63, of 2407 Madison Ave., was found dead in his bedroom at 5:30 p.m. Sunday by his mother, Mrs. Maude Shirley.

According to his sister, Mrs. Naomi Hansen, death apparently was due to a heart ailment.

She said her brother had not been ill.

Blood disease victim dies

Complications from a bone marrow transplant are believed to have been responsible for the death of Danny Snow, 21, Edwardsville, at Providence Hospital, Seattle, Wash., at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Snow, who has Quad-City relatives, was returned to an Edwardsville funeral home where funeral arrangements are pending.

The man underwent the marrow transplant operation because of a rare blood disease. A special fund was established at the Bank of Edwardsville for the fund he and his family to pay for the operation. That fund had reached $1,500 today. The family requested that donations to the fund be made in lieu of flowers since the victim had no insurance.

Stamp collector kits available

Stamp collector starter kits, each illustrating a separate topic with stamps related to that topic, are among a group of new philatelic items on sale at area post offices, Quad-City postmasters said today.

The $2 kits are the first ever issued by the U. S. Postal Service. They contain enough stamps to start a collection and provide tips on how to begin this hobby.

Other items on sale are: The souvenir mint set of 1973 commemorative and special stamps, called the mini-album in past years. It is a display folder containing the 33 commemorative special and memorial stamps issued during 1973.

The folder is marked to show where each stamp should be mounted, and contains information about the stamps and designers. It sells for $3, slightly more than the face value of the stamps.

The 1973 edition of Stamps & Stories, a full-color, pocket-sized book containing information about more than 2,000 U.S. and U.N. stamps. The first edition of the book was issued in 1972. The new 240-page volume sells for $2.

Topics available in the starter kits are U. S., Canada, wildlife, sports, space and European art. Each contains a copy of "The ABC's of stamp collecting," a new 32-page pamphlet.

"These new items are available only at post offices. Area postmasters urged customers visit the post offices to see them on display."

Hearing Tuesday on water chlorination

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency is proposing new regulations to safeguard drinking water by requiring all public water supplies in the state to chlorinate their water.

Jeff Diver, acting director of the Illinois EPA, noted in an announcement that the proposal for chlorination can help protect the public health by controlling the many organisms that can be present in drinking water.

"Chlorination of drinking water can help to control the source of such water-borne diseases as typhoid, cholera and polio," Diver said. "Although we have not had a serious outbreak of such diseases in Illinois since 1939, we must take every precaution," he added.

Of the 1,600 public water supplies in Illinois, 630 already chlorinate their water, leaving 670 water supplies that would be affected by the proposed regulations.

Currently, chlorination is required only for surface water supplies or for other supplies that have a history of possible contamination, according to Diver.

"The proposal for new regulations to protect drinking water is a general updating of regulations which have been in effect since 1966," he added.

The proposed regulations also specify the amounts of many chemicals—such as arsenic, copper, cyanide, mercury and zinc—allowable in water treated and distributed by a public water supply.

Public hearings must be held on the proposed regulations by the Illinois Pollution Control Board. After the public hearings, the board has the authority to modify the proposed regulations or to enact regulations as currently written.

Anyone may testify at the public hearings. Copies of the proposed regulations are available from the Illinois EPA's Division of Public Water Supplies, 2200 Churchill Rd., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

Locations and dates of the hearings are:

Springfield, 10 a.m. Dec. 18, Room D1, State Office Building, 401 S. Spring St.

Chicago, 10 a.m., Jan. 8 and 9, Chicago Circle Center Building, University of Illinois Circle Campus.

Carbondale, 10 a.m., Jan. 15, University Center, Southern Illinois University.

Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.

WYOMING ROCK and petrified wood were used to create the 16-foot fireplace dominating the family room's conversation pit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary C. Davis, 2273 Shirlene Drive, shown with two of their four children, rusty, 4, at left, and Cindy, 2, nestled on Daddy's lap. Sunny yellow cushion seats ring the area which is lined with a deep pile green shag rug and warmed with burning logs. Many antiques in the dwelling were brought from Davis' great-grandparents farm in Ohio. (Press-Record Photo)

Exposed aggregate in shiny browns partitioned with wood create the hallway floor and lowered, rough sawn cedar beams criss-cross the ceilings in different areas.

Davis, his son, Gary, and a neighbor youth, Eddie Guber, now 14, assisted by Mrs. Davis, completed most of the work on the house, even pouring concrete, the owner explained.

From the time the house was started, it took six months and 14 days to finish. However, planning the home was a five-year project, Davis noted.

Every item of furniture and most interior decorations were positioned on a blueprint plan prior to construction actually starting, he said.

At present, Davis' firm has close to $2 million in work projects underway, including the STUE housing project, Crossroads Shopping Center in Granite City and a new Holiday Inn near Collinsville. Most projects involve dry wall construction and acoustical ceilings.

The Davises' came to Granite City six years ago from Ohio. He had been in the same business in that state for 15 years.

All their energy is not expended in the decorating field, it was learned. Both husband and wife are enthusiastic and dedicated devotees of the sport of horse racing.

They have been involved in professional racing about the country. Already they are looking forward to next spring and competition in the "Firecracker 29" in Arizona and the "Baja 1,000" in California. They also enjoy boating and travel the countryside in their camper vehicle.

"While making the trips, we are always on the lookout for things to add to our collection," Mrs. Davis said.

White driftwood from Canada to antique spoons from Hawaii, the Davises' manage to blend their treasures into a home.

No faucets can be found in the home. All water outlets are on an ultraviolet push button system with colored buttons designating the temperature.

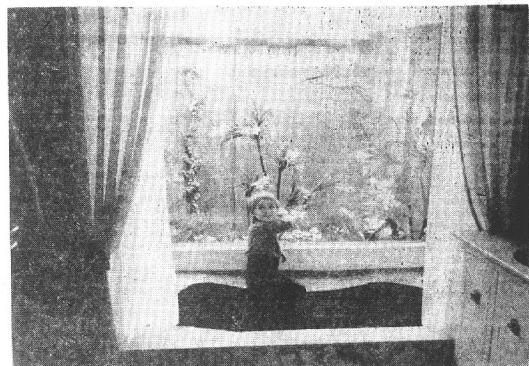

A dropped egg crate ceiling in the kitchen provides lighting to the room and the walls are white plaster cut brick.

Appliances are functional from the versatile (microwave) oven to a jet air barbecue grill and compact unit.

The 50 x 50 foot house also has four bedrooms, a formal living room, three-car garage and a full basement.

The rough exterior brick is about 120 years old and was obtained from a demolished building in St. Louis.

Two sculptured arches of concrete veneer lend a distinctive air to the front, an idea brought back by the Davises' from a New Mexico trip. A paved walkway leading to the huge double

Floating Christmas tree in indoor pool offers unusual holiday motif

By VALERIE EYENDEIN
Press-Record Staff Writer

A distinctive home in the Quad-Cities was made even more unique this week when the owner devised a way to float a 10-foot-tall, live Christmas tree in the middle of his indoor swimming pool, surrounded by gaily-wrapped packages skimming about on the surface.

The absence of outdoor Christmas lights due to energy conservation failed to dampen the Yuletide spirit of Mr. and Mrs. Gary C. Davis and their four children, Cindy, 2, Rusty, 4, Teresa, 7 and Gary, 12, who decided to bring an unusual holiday atmosphere to the home's interior.

The Davis family lives in a Spanish style home at 2273 Shirlene Drive, Northland Estates, off Maryville Road.

With exception of the brick-work and roofing, the house was constructed by the owner who also developed the building plans and designed and decorated the interior.

Davis is owner-operator of Gateway Dry Wall and Decorating and the Gateway Materials Co. Both firms are located at 4008 Braden Ave.

Floating a fully-decorated and illuminated, live Christmas tree in the center of a 16-by-16-foot indoor swimming pool is not easily accomplished.

But, neither is dismantling and bringing 120-year-old barn siding from one's great-grandfather's farm in Ohio to use as wainscoting on the dining room walls.

Davis managed to do both with very effective results.

He secured the tree through a three-foot square raft; its exposed trunk protruding into the unchlorinated water to keep it moisturized.

The 11,000 gallon pool—shallow at one end and plunging to a depth of eight feet at the other—is enclosed with sliding glass doors, which lock securely and jalousie windows.

It is the focal point of the house and located between the bedroom, a room, ultra-modern kitchen and family room, almost in the center of the dwelling.

Beneath the tree on the flotation raft are real presents and bobbing about on the pool surface are styrofoam blocks wrapped in waterproof colored paper, adding to the most unusual scene.

Electrical connections to power the tree lights are well above the pool, with no chance of accidentally falling. The tree, likewise, is fastened tightly and balanced precisely to avoid toppling over, Davis explained.

A mixture of antiques, dating to the 19th century, Spanish furnishings and a giant farmhouse-size rock fireplace harmonize well with the up-to-date aspects of the home.

The dining area paneled with the Davis family's old barn siding from Portsmouth, Ohio, has solid handcrafted furniture and copperware formerly belonging to the Davises' great-grandparents.

A plant stand, hand carved from a weeping willow tree, which stood on Mr. Davis' great-grandmother's porch in Ohio for many decades, is situated at one side of the room. It is estimated to be 130 years old.

A conversation pit, ringed with built-in yellow cushion seats, fronts the 16-foot fireplace of Wyoming rock and wood from the Petrified Forest.

Davis said the wood was collected before rules prohibiting its removal from designated areas were established.

Stereo speakers are built into the rock wall and above the roaring log fire were small red stockings waiting for Santa's arrival.

The music system is piped throughout the house.

One of the most interesting features of the dwelling is the sunken Egyptian tub in the bathroom directly off the master bedroom.

The mosaic tile bathtub designed on fluid lines gives the appearance of being outdoors by use of a large picture window overlooking a small garden and enclosed with a high redwood fence for privacy. Plants, driftwood and artificial humming birds add to the attractive setting.

Wall panels throughout the house light up at the touch of a switch and small compartments in the baseboards hide retractable cords which allow carpets to be vacuumed in any area without dragging electrical cords along the floor.

No faucets can be found in the home. All water outlets are on an ultraviolet push button system with colored buttons designating the temperature.

Christmas Eve services St. John United Church

The congregation of St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road, will worship Christmas Eve with a candlelight service at 11 p.m.

Guests are welcome. Music and scripture will highlight the service, marking the coming of Christ.

Mrs. Irene Barriek, organist and choir director, will preside at the organ beginning at 10:30 p.m. Among the selections she will play before the service are, "Prelude in C," by Gullmunt, "The Holy Night," by Buck, and "Fantasy on Two Christmas Carols," by West.

Of special interest will be the choir singing, "Sing O Heavens," by Tours, "Night Journey of The Wise Men," by Morgan, and the "Hallelujah Chorus," from Handel's "Messiah."

The traditional, yet ever new message of the coming of the Lord from scripture will be shared in the original Hebrew and Greek as well as in English. The congregation will have an opportunity to sing "Silent Night, Holy Night" in German, and "O Come All Ye Faithful" in Latin, thus making this a five-language service.

Rev. Carl F. Eschenbrenner, associate minister, will deliver the meditation entitled, "The Gift of Life" and Dr. Paul R. Surbey, minister, will give the Christmas greetings and the Christmas prayer.

Each worshiper will receive a candle to be lit during the "Service of Lights" as a symbol of the light of God shining in and through us.

After the service, Mrs. Barriek and the choir will sing carols from the front of the church.

We welcome all to our worship that will be broadcast on FM radio on Christmas Day.

Red Cross needs blood for holidays

The urgent need for blood donors to meet the expected demand for blood during the holiday season was emphasized at a meeting last week of the American Red Cross Chapter at the First Granite City National Bank.

Always in short supply, blood bank reserves become increasingly low in the Christmas-New Year holiday period. Mrs. Ruby Winters, blood program chairman, reported.

The Red Cross bloodmobile will visit the community Dec. 26, Dec. 27 and Dec. 28 when members of local churches involved in a cooperative blood donor program will contribute quotas.

The bloodmobile will be stationed at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, Pontoon and Johnson roads, during the holiday period, with participating churches assigned a specified time and date. Mrs. Winters said. The unit also will visit Nestle Co. plant this month, she added.

Mrs. Winters said a new ruling now permits blood donations from 17-year-olds with parental consent. Previously, donors were required to be 18 years old.

More than 60 women attended a recent workshop at which the cooperative blood program and the recruitment of donors were explained by representatives of the regional Red Cross staff, the chairman announced.

Mrs. Maxine Duniphan, first vice chairman of the American Red Cross Chapter, said several multimedia and standard courses are being instructed by local Red Cross volunteers, several outside the immediate community.

Classes have been conducted for personnel at Mass American Co., Basler Electric of Highland and the Long Lake Fire Department volunteer force, she said.

Various first aid courses also have been organized and presented for Girl Scouts, the Submasters Underwater Recovery Team and Girl Scout leaders, Mrs. Duniphan added.

Mrs. Ruby Overbeck, chapter executive director, said services to the military and their families during the past four weeks totaled 139 contacts including 13 emergency leaves, three leave extensions, six health-welfare reports, 32 other service related reports, 79 counseling sessions, five veteran assistance and nine information requests.

David Fox, chapter chairman, conducted the board of directors' meeting.

Imports of steel rise

Foreign steel producers increased their shipments into the United States during October, the American Iron and Steel Institute reports.

According to government data, 1,295,000 tons of imported steel arrived in this country during the month. This was up from the 1,075,000 tons of steel imports recorded in September.

Through the first 10 months of 1973, steel imports totaled 12,745,000 tons, or 16.5 per cent less than the 14,248,000 tons landed at U.S. ports during the same period of last year.

However, steel imported through October of this year had an average declared value of $181.89 per ton—up substantially from the $137.35 per ton average declared value of steel imports during the same period of 1972.

Although imports of stainless and alloy steels were down from last year's comparable level, foreign shipments of tool steel through October were more than 45 per cent ahead of their 1972 pace.

Steel imports into all Continental U.S. regions, including the Pacific Coast, also were below their totals for the first ten months of last year.

By the end of October, the 1973 U.S. trade deficit in steel mill products had reached $1,547,880,000.

2 auto burglaries in Pontoon Beach

Two auto burglaries between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 6:30 a.m. Thursday were reported to Pontoon Beach police.

Allan Diemer, 3912 Gaslight Walk reported two briefcases belonging to the State of Illinois Division of Highways were taken from a state truck parked in front of his home.

Mrs. Teresa Lesinski, 4052 Gaslight Walk, told police her car was entered and 12 tapes, a camera and two stereo speakers were stolen.

'Face-lifting' at the Press-Record

FORMER TYPESETTING METHOD in which the Press-Record composing room staff operated seven linotype machines to set advertising and news into reverse-image metal molds. All photographs on these two pages were taken by Walter F. "Mick" Strange, photo editor, and Gary Schneider, regional editor.

Mechanical changeover completed

The year drawing to a close has seen a major "face-lifting" in the mechanical departments of the Press-Record, achieving significant improvement in working conditions for the highly-skilled production staff. Fast, accurate preparation of text matter and display typography has been made possible by installation of phototypesetting equipment, replacing machines used until this summer to produce the newspaper by the hot metal process.

With ecological-environmental progress among the objectives, the Press-Record mechanical changeover has virtually eliminated even the potential for safety, health or pollution problems. It also has substantially increased production flexibility and capability.

The work performed by men, women and computerized machines is complex, but it is relatively simple to explain in the context of photography—photocomposition, to be specific.

Either directly through input from typesetting keyboards, or indirectly through perforation of tape with alpha-numeric codes, light is projected through small filmstrips to convey letters and figures onto photosensitive paper.

This is pasted onto a sheet of paper along with other advertisements, headlines, articles, drawings and pictures. A full-size page negative is made and placed onto a photosensitive plate for exposure to high-intensity light.

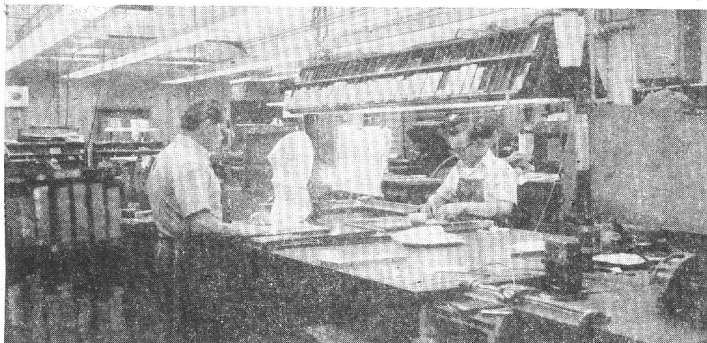

After the image is etched, polymer on the plate hardens and the page is attached to a special saddle on a cylinder of a rotary letterpress.

When other plates have been added, giant "adding machine" rolls of newsprint are fed through the press, printed, folded, cut and distributed—in the form of the Monday and Thursday issues of the Press-Record.

Among advantages of the new method is that news and ads are visible and readable at each stage of the production process, enabling more thorough monitoring of spelling and meaning. Metal type, except for proof reproductions, had to be read upside down and backward.

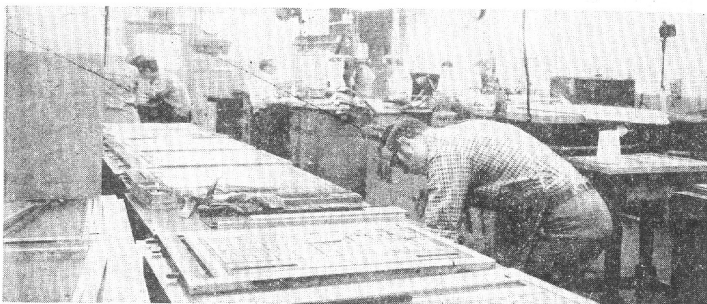

Another benefit is a major expansion, in effect, of the racks of type fonts and sizes formerly maintained in the Press-Record composing room.

Fourteen type sizes, from six-point to 120-point, are now immediately available in any of eight 102-character type faces. And type images can be produced with automatic margins and hyphenation at speeds of up to 60 lines a minute.

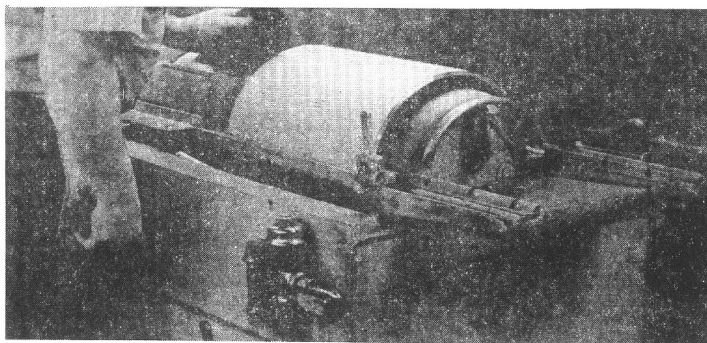

ASSEMBLING OF METAL TYPE is shown prior to conversion of the Press-Record this year from the "hot" to "cold" process, the former method utilizing heavy, bulky materials and the latter procedure involving paper photographic images.

PAGE-SIZE CHASES once used as a frame to lock together groups of individual lines of type. This is the same basic method that had been followed since the Press-Record began publishing in 1903.

DISCONTINUED METAL PLATES once were cast in half-cylinder forms. They were created with the aid of cardboard page mats which had been pressed against flat metal pages to transmit the image of words and illustrations. The curved plates were placed onto the newspaper press after being inspected for legibility.

START OF CONSTRUCTION Feb. 13 in the Press-Record building. Utility lines are shown being placed in a former newsprint storage area which has been converted to a photographic darkroom.

NEW EQUIPMENT abounds at the Press-Record. This picture, in the early spring, shows the arrival of one of the larger items, a carousel which processes and washes newly-etched flexible page forms known as pattern plates. High-lifts lowered this Dyna-Flex machine from the delivery truck. Many of the articles of equipment installed this year are pictured on the opposite page. Those not shown include a Copy Star full-page proofing machine and a CompuGraphic 7200 keyboard-operated machine which produces lettering in sizes ranging from 15 to 120-point.

INTERIOR REMODELING proceeded this fall after the composing room had been cleared of all the machines, saws, tables and cabinets utilized in the previous production method.

Meanwhile, publication continued on schedule by operating new photocomposition equipment on a temporary basis in a storage area and in part of the display advertising office.

DISPLAY ADVERTISEMENTS are set by James F. Hickerson on this CompuGraphic 9000 keyboard, connected directly to a versatile computer. Type images ranging from six-point (1/12 inch high) to 72-point (inch high) are produced on this machine in eight type faces offering 96 possible size and style combinations—or 9,792 size-style-character variations—a far greater assortment than afforded by the previous supply of metal type. Standing, left to right, are Foreman Lloyd R. Lerch; David L. Nelson, executive vice president of the Post Corp., which owns the Press-Record; and Paul G. Halbert, general manager of the Press-Record.

HIGH-SPEED TEXT MACHINE known as a 2961 computer accepts tape from several keyboards, usually for 8½ or 10½-point News No. 2 type. The 2961 automatically "justifies" line widths, hyphenates words and picture creates the photographic type image of news articles, picture explanations, editorials and classified advertisements at blinding speed—one line per second, 3,600 lines per hour of reading matter. Foreman Lloyd R. Lerch is shown checking a tape.

CALCULATING MACHINES are now among the tools of the printing trade. G. E. Spanberger (left) uses a calculator to help mark the size of lettering to be fitted into advertisements; the amount of wording, the dimensions of the space to be filled, the type face to be utilized and the overall visual effect are factors which help determine the size which he specifies in "mark-up" guides to typesetters. C. B. Vondera (right) reads a proof for typographical corrections.

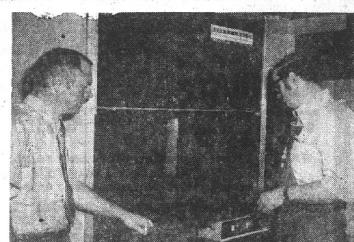

PASTE-UP OF PAGES by James J. Kantner (foreground), preparing an advertisement based on the vertical layout, and William H. Diener (background), inserting a news article in another page. Wax is placed on the back of type images to make them adhere to page-size paper forms. Articles available for the pages are kept on the board adjacent to the work surface.

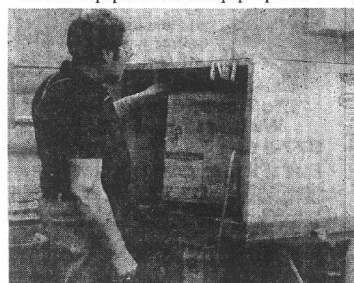

MAMMOTH CAMERA is operated by Joseph A. Wallace Jr. The Robertson Photo-Mechanix Corp. camera is used to add to photos the dot screen required for printing. It is capable of producing prints 17 per cent to 300 per cent of original size. The camera also makes the page-size negatives needed to produce pattern plates; the negatives are developed by use of a LogE automatic processor.

FINISHING PROCESS is pictured. Leland Gieselmann removes a page from a Dyna-Flex Corp. machine which can accommodate eight page plates at one time on a rotating mechanism. Each plate is then shaped and punched so that it can be locked onto a special saddle attached to the press; four pages go onto each roll cylinder to permit continuous printing at high speed.

FIRST DAY'S PRODUCTION with pattern plates. General Manager Paul G. Halbert helps fit one of the pages onto the press. At right foreground is Wilbert Niepert, who heads the Press-Record pressroom staff; at left is Eugene Mueller, press superintendent of the Appleton, Wis., Post-Crescent, who visited here that day.

Catalano, Wilbert Niepert and Mike Rosa. Sheets of newly-printed paper feed onto the folder-at left center and are automatically cut and counted. Eighteen thousand copies are distributed each Monday and Thursday afternoon.

Fireplaces supplement fuel supply

Wood-burning fireplaces will be used more this winter as homeowners look for ways to heat the energy shortages, says Michael F. Bolin, University of Illinois Extension forester.

Fireplaces can be good sources of supplemental heat provided they are properly used, he adds.

Proper wood selection, appropriate care and storage of the firewood, good fire-building techniques, and careful fireplace maintenance are all important, says Bolin. Each of these factors affects the heating capacity of a fireplace.

The species or kind of wood and its dryness are the most important factors to consider in selecting firewood, points out Bolin.

There are two distinct types of wood—softwoods and hardwoods. But softwoods, such as pine or spruce, are scarce in Illinois and not usually used in firewood.

The ability of hardwoods such as oak, hickory or elm to produce good heat depends on the specific gravity or density of the wood.

Heavier wood or wood that contains a large amount of wood fiber will naturally produce more heat than wood with a low fiber content. And sound firm wood will have a greater heat-producing capacity than decayed or rotten wood.

Based on specific gravities, firewood quality can be classified as:

BEST: Apple, beech, birch, hickory, honey locust, black locust, red oak, white oak, pear, sugar maple.

GOOD: Ash, black cherry, elm, gum, hackberry, red maple, silver maple, sycamore, black walnut.

POOR: Alder, aspen, basswood, butternut, chestnut, cottonwood, yellow poplar.

The amount of moisture in wood also affects its heat capacity. Dry wood is easier to start, will smoke less, and yield more heat than green (wet) wood.

Size also affects the ability of wood to burn. The smaller the piece, the greater the combustibility. That's why fuel wood more than eight inches in diameter should be split into halves or quarters.

Poor care and storage of firewood can nullify all benefits gained from proper selection, Bolin says. Avoid storing firewood in a cool, damp, shaded spot. Open storage lends itself to rapid drying of the wood and reduces the likelihood of insect breeding and decay.

Slightly elevating the wood pile to avoid contact with the ground will also reduce the probability of decay.

Maintaining good fireplace conditions will add to the heating value of the wood and the enjoyment of the fire, observes Bolin.

Old ashes should be removed from the fireplace before a new fire is started. Wood smothered in ashes receives an inadequate air supply and will burn poorly.

Now ash from freshly burned wood should not interfere with fresh fuel applied to the fire.

Improper flue adjustments also decrease the amount of heat which radiates from the fireplace into the room.

With the flue wide open, most of the heat is carried up the chimney. This can be corrected by reducing the flue opening to the point where there is only sufficient draft to carry the smoke up the chimney.

Other vehicles involved were those of Mary Dudley, 4046 Breckenridge Lane, Pontoon Beach, and a Yellow Cab Co. taxicab, driven by David Davis, 4283 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach.

Davis' car and the cab collided in the street and Davis' car spun into the front of the Dudley auto and continued into a ditch in front of the shopping center.

Davis suffered abrasions to his right cheek and right shoulder. X-rays of his skull, spine and right shoulder were taken and he was admitted.

MITCHELL BURGLARY
A color television, two tape players, a radio and a camera were stolen from the home of Robert Ford, 305 W. Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell. The loss was reported Thursday. The loss was estimated at $700.

Annual sessions factor in retirement by Choate

House Minority Leader Rep. Clyde Lee Choate, D-Ana, is a folksy Southern Illinoisan, who after this, the one-time farm boy and railroad hand from Union County, of which almost half is in the Shawnee National Forest, will have served 28 years in the state legislature.

In this course of time, Choate, with his Southern Illinois accent and ready smile, has slugged it out with the best—both on the legislative battleground and in conferences with governors of both parties.

When Choate rises to speak on the floor of the House, he is not only noted for his booming voice, but for his brightly colored sportcoats.

Choate has risen to the leader of the Democrats in the House through hard work. He has never deviated from the Democratic Party line.

It also was no secret Choate was a close friend of the state's top Democrat—Chicago's Mayor Richard J. Daley. Undoubtedly, Daley played the kind of politics which Choate admired the best.

But the rise to the top spot in the House from the day he first announced he would run for the House in a small neighborhood grocery store in Herrin in 1946 has been tedious.

Annual sessions also apparently have taken a toll. Several other House members also have announced they will not seek reelection, including the present House dean, Rep. Charles Clabaugh, R-Champaign.

Annual legislative sessions, along with the fall sessions, mean long hours, especially for the legislative leaders.

Choate probably had one of the best teachers in the "rough and tumble" politics of downstate Illinois—the late Paul Powell of Vienna, Powell, who was Illinois secretary of state when he died, had a long career in the House.

He and Choate engineered Powell's election as House speaker in 1961, even though the Republicans held control.

They crossed over and got a few Republicans to vote for Powell, when then Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter came to convene the House, as is the custom for a new General Assembly, he was spellbound at what had happened.

Ask Choate what some of his most memorable moments are in the House and you get a disarming grin. Then he will always end up by saying how he supported legislation for Southern Illinois University in Carbondale.

Choate, whose own education stopped with graduation from high school, has placed a high value on higher education.

The World War II Congressional Medal of Honor winner has fought long and hard for Southern Illinois, known to some natives as "Little Egypt."

The battles have been long, but the state institutions, highways and other projects are a strict testament as to who won for Southern Illinois.

DOOR IS DAMAGED

The rear door knob was broken off and the door facing removed to gain entrance to the home of John Beresky, 2812 Wayne Ave., it was reported at 3:10 p.m. Thursday. It is unknown what was taken.

Jenkins area head of Children Services

The latest step in the state Department of Children and Family Services' program to become a "community-based organization" was revealed Friday by Director Jerome G. Miller with the naming of administrators for 13 multi-county areas. Anthony Jenkins will serve this region.

The areas for which administrators were named cover most areas outside the Chicago metropolitan region and will begin operation Jan. 1, 1974. Four additional areas are already functioning in Cook County.

The area system replaces the seven regions and 35 districts under which the department formerly operated.

Each area office will combine management services formerly provided by regional offices with casework and licensing services offered by district offices.

"Combining management and service functions into one unit not only makes the department more accessible to the people of Illinois, but has also been accomplished with no increase in budget," Miller said.

"We are effectively eliminating all middle management functions of the regions, freeing up more staff for service-oriented, people-to-people work."

A key point in DCF's area structure will be outposts, a series of five- or six-person social work teams with headquarters in communities or neighborhoods showing particular need for the agency's services. Outposts will be coordinated by the areas in which they are located.

"We hope to have as many as 50 outposts in the months ahead," Miller said. "They will be lean, tightly-knit forces whose only purpose will be to meet pressing social welfare needs in their community."

Selection of area administrators caps a year-long reorganization effort by Children and Family Services. The administrators and their areas are:

Otha Johnson, Joliet; Dennis Burns, Waukegan; Margaret Kennedy, Rockford; Angeline Byars, Ottawa; Jesse Viers, Moline; Jessie Hairston, Peoria; Thomas Tucker, Decatur; Willis Hartman, Champaign; Don Robeson, Quincy; Barbara Ryan, Springfield; Jenkins, East St. Louis, and Dr. George Ross, Salem. Thomas Amyette has been appointed acting administrator for the Marion area.

An administrator is still to be named for Aurora (Kane, DuPage and Kendall counties).

The East St. Louis area includes Madison, Monroe, Randolph and St. Clair counties. The office is located at 310 North Tenth Street. Its phone number is 874-2209.

Jenkins most recently served as assistant guardianship administrator for the department in East St. Louis.

He has also served as acting director of financial aid for State Community College; executive director of Metro-East Health Services Council; executive director for Catholic Social Service in East St. Louis; and in a number of positions for DCF from 1960-1968.

Jenkins is a graduate of Tennessee State University and holds a master of social work degree from Washington University, St. Louis.

He and his wife, Barbara, have two children. They live at 213 North 62nd St. in East St. Louis.

Miss Hayes, 69, succumbs

Miss Katherine Hayes, 69, of 1529 Fourth St., a lifelong resident of Madison, died at 2:40 a.m. Friday at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She had been ill for five weeks and a patient at the hospital three weeks ago.

Miss Hayes was employed as an IBM Scanner for 43 years at International Shoe Co., St. Louis, retiring seven years ago.

She was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church.

Survivors include three brothers, Elton "Pat" Hayes and James Hayes, both of Madison, and William Hayes of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Lester (Mildred) Goode of Granite City and Miss Irene Hayes of Madison.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.
